

DSR Partners Launches CARMA: First Free Climate Adaptation Check for Companies

Viersen, April 18, 2025 – Europe is the fastest-warming continent on the planet. This is the key message of the latest European State of the Climate Report 2024 by the Copernicus Climate Change Service. The year 2024 was not only the warmest on record – it also saw a significant increase in extreme weather events such as heatwaves, droughts, and heavy rainfall, placing growing pressure on businesses.

Against this backdrop, the specialized consultancy DSR Partners GmbH, based in Viersen, is introducing the CARMA Check (Climate Adaptation & Resilience Maturity Assessment) – the first free online self-assessment tool enabling companies to quickly and easily evaluate their climate adaptation readiness.

A Next Step in Corporate Climate Adaptation

With the CARMA Check, companies assess their preparedness for climate-related risks in four key areas:

1. Own operations & business processes
2. Governance & strategic integration
3. Resilient supply chains
4. Innovation & new business models

Using 16 concise statements, organizations can evaluate their current status and receive an instant personalized evaluation upon completion.

Why CARMA – and Why Now?

“Many companies are aware that climate change affects their business models – but often lack clarity on where to begin,” says Daniel Schmitz-Remberg, Managing Director of DSR & Partners. “The CARMA Check fills exactly this gap and provides a powerful first impulse.”

Simple. Free. Effective.

The CARMA Check draws on DSR & Partners’ extensive consulting experience across diverse industries. It is designed to be intuitive and completed within minutes. The resulting analysis can serve as a first step toward a deeper understanding of climate risks and opportunities for the company.
